Personal Statement

I am a hardworking individual studying Level 3 IT. I can work efficiently on my own or as part of a team. Excelling especially in Computing, this is the subject area I wish to land a permanent career in – particularly programming and software development.

Areas of Expertise

I have a strong natural sense for mathematical and logical problems, picking up quickly on programming and other aspects of computer science early on in education, over time developing a greater interest in computing and eventually deciding on a career path in that direction.
